

HOW TO USE YOUR TRAINING LOG

START WHERE YOU ARE.

Try the exercise once a week for 4 weeks. Record what you did and how it felt.

There is no score you need to beat. Your job is simply to record where you started and notice what changes.

EXAMPLE: CHAIR SIT-TO-STAND

Starting point: solid dining chair | Goal: controlled standing and sitting

This example shows one possible pattern. Your own progress may look completely different.

WHAT I RECORDED	WEEK 1	WEEK 2	WEEK 3	WEEK 4
What I did	2 controlled reps	3 controlled reps	3 controlled reps	4 controlled reps
Support used	Both hands	Both hands	One hand	One hand
How it felt	Hard	Manageable	Easier	More confident
What I noticed	Needed to rock forwards	More controlled	Less help needed	Standing felt easier

KEEP IT SIMPLE

1. Choose the version of the exercise that suits you today.
2. Record the measure that matters: reps, time, support, distance, steps, ease or confidence.
3. Write down how it felt and anything you noticed.
4. Repeat once a week for 4 weeks and look for changes, not perfection.
